lib/rdoc/generator/json_index.rb inserts the build time into generated .gz files, so they differ across each build, making it hard for distributions like openSUSE's to create bit-identical binary packages when those are using rdoc.

See https://reproducible-builds.org/ why that matters