Ruby master - Bug #15519
addr2line compile error on RHEL7
01/09/2019 04:16 PM - vo.x (Vit Ondruch)

Status: Closed
Priority: Normal
Assignee:
Target version:
ruby -v: ruby 2.6.0p0 (2018-12-25 revision 66547) [x86_64-linux]
Backport: 2.4: DONTNEED, 2.5: DONTNEED, 2.6: DONE

Description
I am observing following compilation:

addr2line.c: In function 'di_find_abbrev':
addr2line.c:1210:5: error: 'for' loop initial declarations are only allowed in C99 mode
  for (uint64_t n = uleb128(&p); abbrev_number != n; n = uleb128(&p)) { ^ addr2line.c:1210:5: note: use option -std=c99 or -std=gnu99 to compile your code
addr2line.c: In function 'debug_info_read':
addr2line.c:1558:9: error: 'for' loop initial declarations are only allowed in C99 mode
  for (int i=offset; i < num_traces; i++) { ^ make:  [addr2line.o] Error 1

make:  Waiting for unfinished jobs....

This happens on RHEL7 with following compiler:

$ rpm -q gcc
gcc-4.8.5-16.el7_4.3.x86_64

This was probably introduced by r65077. It should be fixed IMO, unless #15347 is accepted.

I agree r66768 should be backported to 2.6 to fix it safely. But at the same time,

   It should be fixed IMO, unless #15347 is accepted.

   I think the build error should be fixed regardless of #15347 acceptance. Due to r66605, I believe trunk works on the same environment without r66768, as it's just saying "use option -std=c99 or -std=gnu99 to compile your code".

   vo.x (Vit Ondruch) Could you double-check r66767 (or any commit after r66605 and before r66768) can be built on your environment?

If it doesn't work, please upload the full command logs of ./configure and make (on the slightly older trunk, r66767 as said above), or at least configure flags and CFLAGS if you don't want to show a full output.
