I could not rub test-all when I committed due to a drbssl/RSA error.

Jim agreed to remove Rake::RDocTask from rake long ago but has not yet done so. This is the source of the problem.

I have sent him a pull request but he has not yet responded:

<https://github.com/jimweirich/rake/pull/13>

I will try sending a postcard too.

Skip that tests like following:

```
make RUBYOPT=-w TESTS='-v -n'^A(?!test_getpty_nonexistent)'"
TMPDIR=/tmp/test-all test-all|&tee t.log

Ah! I will be more clever with my regexp next time then, thank you!

I asked Jim if it was ok to replace Rake::RDocTask with RDoc::Task and he approved.

I have updated to RDoc 3.1 and removed RDoc::Task.

Sorry, I have removed lib/rake/rdoctask's implementation and replaced it with a warning and a require 'rdoc/task'. rdoc/task contains a backwards-compatible implementation.
